It’s very clear in the Word of God that all our relationships are interdependent. This being so, it is imperative that we work on all of them, making sure that they line up with that Word.